The Ladies' Music club gave the last of a series of concerts complimentary to their friends, for this season, at the Elks hall Wednesday afternoon. The program began at three o'clock and the musicians for the afternoon had as their audience several hundred of the music-loving people of Topeka, who came in response to invitations issued by the club.

The company included a number of men.

Members of the club who served as soloists were: Mrs. George H. Allen, Mrs. Bernard Crosby, Mrs. Anna Clark, Mrs. W. B. Swan, Mrs. Warwick Updegraff.

The musicians for the afternoon were: Mrs. Stuart Forbes of Kansas City, Mrs. Horace Whitehouse of Topeka, Mrs. Charles Gled and Dean Horace Whitehouse.

Mrs. Forbes has occasionally played before Topeka audiences, who first knew her as Miss Margaret Fowler. She is a violinist of exceptional ability, recognized not only in her own home of Kansas City, but wherever she has played.

A widely diversified one, giving a fair idea of the versatility of her art. One of the compositions played was a Fantasia by Max Bruch, a composer of the early nineteenth century.

The three movements of the composition were built around Scotch themes, which, in being delicately elaborated, lost none of the vigor and dash.

The reception accorded it was sufficiently cordial to insure its repetitions by violinists who have become familiar with the piece.

First number for the afternoon was the Sonata in A Major by Handel, written for violin and piano.

who like simplicity and romance, and value beauty of spirit more than they prize sensational and astonishing effects.

The number, as it was rendered, has a grace and distinction of style that has lost none of its gracious effect even to this distinct generation.

A group of three short numbers consisted of an excerpt from Wagner's Meistersinger, and romance, "Indian Lament," by Dvorak, arranged by Kreisler, and Wieniawski's "Tarentelle."

Mrs. Forbes' work was poetic, at times brilliant, and is concerned with an elevation of thought in lyrical moments, that has about it a glow of sentiment.

She received a large part of her musical education abroad, and reflects some of the greatness of Ysaye, who was one of her teachers.

The vocal solo work was done by Mrs. Horace Whitehouse, who before her marriage, recently.

Emma Kempster, who is a teacher of voice at Washburn college and has come to be a favorite with Topeka audiences.

She sang two popular songs from the opera "Mignon," and a song cycle, "Stellen Greeting."

Mrs. Whitehouse has studied with the best teachers in Europe and was enthusiastically applauded after each of her numbers yesterday.

Mrs. Charles Gled played the accompaniments for Mrs. Forbes, and Dean Horace Whitehouse played accompaniments for Mrs. Gled.

Mrs. Gled is the president of the Ladies' Music club, and has inaugurated many of the pleasant entertainments of the club.

The club work that has made her administration successful. The club has given a number of art recitals, bringing outside talent to the city, and giving an opportunity for its musicians to appear publicly.

Mrs. Gled is herself a pianist of considerable talent, and has kept pace with the musical development of the city from year to year, and she ranks high among its accompanists.

Mrs. Forbes was gowned yesterday in a costume of white chiffon and net, draped over taffeta. The trimming was of soft bands figured in blue. Mrs. Whitehouse wore a gown of Belgian blue taffeta, with short sleeves of silver lace.

Mrs. Gled's gown was of figured blue Georgette crepe, with draped skirt. The trimming was of white lace. Mrs. Whitehouse wore a gown of taffeta in blue with white and rose figured stripes. The lining which was disclosed in the drapery was blue taffeta suit, with hat of green and white straw, banded with white ribbon.

Invitations will be issued Saturday for a card party to be given Tuesday, May 9, at the Elks lodge by the Ceramic Art club.

The organization of the art club, is devoted to the interests of art, almost exclusively, in the city. The members are especially interested in promoting an interest in this art.

They hope to add a good sum to the monument fund by the party they are planning. The members of the club.

"If you have a muddy complexion and dull eyes, you are contaminated by a lack of water daily and one or two laxative pills at night will correct this condition and make you 'fit as a fiddle.' Laxative pills, in my opinion, are the best laxative to be had, and can be taken by men, women or children."
